

Automate Your Weekly Body Review

A standing Sunday check on the temple that carries the load.

You won't audit your body on willpower. Build the rhythm once and let it run: a weekly prompt that pulls your week — movement, sleep, food — and hands you one adjustment, not ten.

Action checklist

- Set a recurring Sunday-evening trigger (Calendar event, or a 'Body review' Habitify habit).
- Save a Claude prompt: "Here's my week — flag the ONE change with the highest return."
- Feed it whatever you tracked (steps, sleep, meals — even rough notes).
- Log the one change as a Habitify habit for the coming week. Next week, review and repeat.

ONE CHANGE, NOT TEN

A captain who fixes one thing a week is unrecognizable in a year. Ten at once is how men quit by Wednesday.

Scripture sit

1 Corinthians 6:19–20 — "Your body is a temple... glorify God in your body." Stewardship is a rhythm, not a sprint.

What I noticed

Captain's next move
